

ENGLISH PLUS

WITH ANSWER
KEY

PRACTICE WORKSHEETS

DO YOU KNOW

JAMES COOK

Do You Know | James Cook

1. Fill in the blanks while you are listening.

JAMES COOK

Captain James Cook was one of the world's greatest explorers. He [1] _____ around the world twice. He was the first European to [2] _____ Hawaii and New Zealand, and he sailed farther south than any European had ever gone.

People marveled over the places, people, and [3] _____ Cook described. Before Cook, nobody in Europe knew about penguins or kangaroos!

[4] _____ LIFE

Cook was born in 1728 on a farm in northern England. At the age of 18, he went to work for a shipping company. In 1755, Cook joined the British Royal Navy. His ship was sent to Canada, to make maps of land that Britain had [5] _____ from France.

FIRST [6] _____ TO THE PACIFIC

In 1768, Cook [7] _____ to the South [8] _____ Ocean, with artists and scientists. Officially, their task was to observe the planet, Venus. But Britain also hoped that Cook would find a mysterious "[9] _____ Continent" that some [10] _____ claimed to have seen. Cook wanted to take [11] _____ of it for the British king.

Cook [12] _____ New [13] _____ in 1770. No other European had been there. He sailed around New [14] _____ and then [15] _____ [16] _____ Australia.

A SCIENTIFIC EXPLORER

Cook drew many detailed maps and kept careful records of all he had seen on his voyage. He described native peoples of the [17] _____ Pacific and their [18] _____. His artists sketched wildlife, and his scientists collected unusual plants and animals to take back.

Cook's [19] _____ work [20] _____ a [21] _____ when he arrived home in Britain in 1771. No other [22] _____ had [23] _____ so much information, so thoroughly and [24] _____.

Cook also won fame for keeping his sailors [25] _____. He wondered if a lack of fresh fruits and vegetables caused scurvy, a fatal disease common [26] _____ sailors on long voyages. He stocked his ship with sauerkraut (pickled cabbage) and forced his crew to eat it. [27] _____ stops at port, he ordered his crew to eat fresh [28] _____. As a result, few of his sailors became seriously ill.

SECOND VOYAGE TO THE PACIFIC

From 1772 to 1775, Cook made a second [29] _____ to the [30] _____ [31] _____ Ocean. This time, he sailed farther south than anyone before him. He saw penguins and icebergs. He sailed all the way around Antarctica. But he found no land where people [32] _____ live.

FINAL VOYAGE

In 1776, Cook set off on a third [33] _____. This time, Cook [34] _____ to look for the Northwest Passage. This was a [35] _____ sea route north of [36] _____ linking Europe and Asia. Before sailing [37] _____, he explored several islands in the Pacific. He landed in Hawaii in 1778, becoming the first European to do so.

From Hawaii, Cook sailed to North [38] _____. He was the first European to set foot on Vancouver Island off the [39] _____ of [40] _____ Columbia. Throughout 1778 he explored the northwest coast of North [41] _____, but he [42] _____ to find the Northwest Passage. In 1779, Cook returned to Hawaii, where he was killed in a quarrel with [43] _____ over a stolen boat.

- | | | | |
|-------------------|--------------|----------------|---------------|
| A. scientifically | B. foods | C. Pacific | D. reached |
| E. might | F. Zealand | G. coast | H. VOYAGE |
| I. South | J. America | K. failed | L. sailed |
| M. careful | N. natives | O. gathered | P. wanted |
| Q. sensation | R. America | S. South | T. sailed |
| U. possible | V. Canada | W. eastern | X. During |
| Y. Pacific | Z. sailors | AA. EARLY | BB. among |
| CC. things | DD. cultures | EE. reach | FF. conquered |
| GG. healthy | HH. north | II. Southern | JJ. British |
| KK. caused | LL. voyage | MM. expedition | NN. voyage |
| OO. control | PP. explored | QQ. Zealand | |

Bonus | Spelling

2. In each line of text below there is one word that has been misspelled. Circle the misspelled word and then write the correct spelling of the word on the line on the right side of the page.

JEMES COOK

Captain James Cook was one of the world’s greatest explorers. H sailed around the world twice. He was the first European to reach Hawaii end New Zealand, and he sailed farther south than any European hed ever gon.

People marveled over the places, people, end things Cook described. Before Cook, nobody in Europe knew about penguins ore kangaroos!

EARLYE LIFE

Cook was born in 1728 on an farm in northern England. At the age of 18, hee went to work for a shipping company. In 1755, Cook joined the British Royal Navy. His ship was sent to Canada, to make maps of lannd that Britain had conquered from Frence.

FIRST VOYAGE TU THE PACIFIC

In 1768, Cook sailed to the South Pasific Ocean, with artists and scientists. Officially, their task was to observe the planet, Venuse. But Britain also hoped that Cook would find a mysterious “Sothern Continent” that some sailors claimed to have seen. Cook whanted to take control of it for the British king.

Cook reached New Zealand inn 1770. No other European had been there. He sailed around Newe Zealand and then explored eastern Australia.

A SCIENTIFIC EXPLORERE

Cok drew many detailed maps and kept careful records of all he had seen on his voyage. He described native peoples of tha South Pacific and their cultures. His artists sketched wildlife, and his ssientists collected unusual plants and animils to take back.

Cook’s careful work caused a sensation when hee arrived home in Britain in 1771. No other expedition had gathired so much information, so thoroughly and sciantifically.

Cook aldo won fame for keeping his sailors healthy. He wondered if a lack of frech fruits and vegetables caused scurvy, a fatal disease common among sailors on long vuyages. He stocked his ship with

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____
7. _____
8. _____
9. _____
10. _____
11. _____
12. _____
13. _____
14. _____
15. _____
16. _____
17. _____
18. _____
19. _____
20. _____
21. _____
22. _____
23. _____
24. _____
25. _____
26. _____
27. _____
28. _____
29. _____
30. _____
31. _____

sauerkraut (pickled cabbage) and forced his crew to eat it. During stops at port, he ordered his crew to eat fresh foods. As a result, few of his sailors became seriously ill.

- 32. _____
- 33. _____
- 34. _____

SECOND VOYAGE TO THE PACIFIC

From 1772 to 1775, Cook made a second voyage to the South Pacific Ocean. This time, he sailed farther south than anyone before him. He saw penguins and icebergs. He sailed all the way around Antarctica. But he found no land where people might live.

- 35. _____
- 36. _____
- 37. _____
- 38. _____
- 39. _____

FINAL VOYAGE

In 1776, Cook set off on a third voyage. This time, Cook wanted to look for the Northwest Passage. That was a possible sea route north of Canada linking Europe and Asia. Before sailing north, he explored several islands in the Pacific. He landed in Hawaii in 1778, becoming the first European to do so.

- 40. _____
- 41. _____
- 42. _____
- 43. _____
- 44. _____
- 45. _____

From Hawaii, Cook sailed to North America. He was the first European to set foot on Vancouver Island on the coast of British Columbia. Throughout 1778 he explored the northwest coast of North America, but he failed to find the Northwest Passage. In 1779, Cook returned to Hawaii, where he was killed in a quarrel with natives over a stolen boat.

- 46. _____
- 47. _____
- 48. _____
- 49. _____
- 50. _____

Do You Know | James Cook

1. Fill in the blanks while you are listening.

JAMES COOK

Captain James Cook was one of the world's greatest explorers. He [1] sailed around the world twice. He was the first European to [2] reach Hawaii and New Zealand, and he sailed farther south than any European had ever gone.

People marveled over the places, people, and [3] things Cook described. Before Cook, nobody in Europe knew about penguins or kangaroos!

[4] EARLY LIFE

Cook was born in 1728 on a farm in northern England. At the age of 18, he went to work for a shipping company. In 1755, Cook joined the British Royal Navy. His ship was sent to Canada, to make maps of land that Britain had [5] conquered from France.

FIRST [6] VOYAGE TO THE PACIFIC

In 1768, Cook [7] sailed to the South [8] Pacific Ocean, with artists and scientists. Officially, their task was to observe the planet, Venus. But Britain also hoped that Cook would find a mysterious "[9] Southern Continent" that some [10] sailors claimed to have seen. Cook wanted to take [11] control of it for the British king.

Cook [12] reached New [13] Zealand in 1770. No other European had been there. He sailed around New [14] Zealand and then [15] explored [16] eastern Australia.

A SCIENTIFIC EXPLORER

Cook drew many detailed maps and kept careful records of all he had seen on his voyage. He described native peoples of the [17] South Pacific and their [18] cultures. His artists sketched wildlife, and his scientists collected unusual plants and animals to take back.

Cook's [19] careful work [20] caused a [21] sensation when he arrived home in Britain in 1771. No other [22] expedition had [23] gathered so much information, so thoroughly and [24] scientifically.

Cook also won fame for keeping his sailors [25] healthy. He wondered if a lack of fresh fruits and vegetables caused scurvy, a fatal disease common [26] among sailors on long voyages. He stocked his ship with sauerkraut (pickled cabbage) and forced his crew to eat it. [27] During stops at port, he ordered his crew to eat fresh [28] foods. As a result, few of his sailors became seriously ill.

SECOND VOYAGE TO THE PACIFIC

From 1772 to 1775, Cook made a second [29] voyage to the [30] South [31] Pacific Ocean. This time, he sailed farther south than anyone before him. He saw penguins and icebergs. He sailed all the way around Antarctica. But he found no land where people [32] might live.

FINAL VOYAGE

In 1776, Cook set off on a third [33] voyage. This time, Cook [34] wanted to look for the Northwest Passage. This was a [35] possible sea route north of [36] Canada linking Europe and Asia. Before sailing [37] north, he explored several islands in the Pacific. He landed in Hawaii in 1778, becoming the first European to do so.

From Hawaii, Cook sailed to North [38] America. He was the first European to set foot on Vancouver Island off the [39] coast of [40] British Columbia. Throughout 1778 he explored the northwest coast of North [41] America, but he [42] failed to find the Northwest Passage. In 1779, Cook returned to Hawaii, where he was killed in a quarrel with [43] natives over a stolen boat.

- A. scientifically B. foods C. Pacific D. reached
- E. might F. Zealand G. coast H. VOYAGE
- I. South J. America K. failed L. sailed
- M. careful N. natives O. gathered P. wanted
- Q. sensation R. America S. South T. sailed
- U. possible V. Canada W. eastern X. During
- Y. Pacific Z. sailors AA. EARLY BB. among
- CC. things DD. cultures EE. reach FF. conquered
- GG. healthy HH. north II. Southern JJ. British
- KK. caused LL. voyage MM. expedition NN. voyage
- OO. control PP. explored QQ. Zealand

Bonus | Spelling

2. In each line of text below there is one word that has been misspelled. Circle the misspelled word and then write the correct spelling of the word on the line on the right side of the page.

JEMES COOK

Captain James Cook was one of the world’s greatest explorers. H sailed around the world twice. He was the first European to reach Hawaii end New Zealand, and he sailed farther south than any European hed ever gon.

People marveled over the places, people, end things Cook described. Before Cook, nobody in Europe knew about penguins ore kangaroos!

EARLYE LIFE

Cook was born in 1728 on an farm in northern England. At the age of 18, hee went to work for a shipping company. In 1755, Cook joined the British Royal Navy. His ship was sent to Canada, to make maps of lannd that Britain had conquered from Frence.

FIRST VOYAGE TU THE PACIFIC

In 1768, Cook sailed to the South Pasific Ocean, with artists and scientists. Officially, their task was to observe the planet, Venuse. But Britain also hoped that Cook would find a mysterious “Sothern Continent” that some sailors claimed to have seen. Cook whanted to take control of it for the Britich king.

Cook reached New Zealand inn 1770. No other European had been there. He sailed around Newe Zealand and then explored eastern Australia.

A SCIENTIFIC EXPLORERE

Cok drew many detailed maps and kept careful records of all he had seen on his voyage. He described native peoples of tha South Pacific and their cultures. His artists sketched wildlife, and his ssientists collected unusual plants and animils to take back.

Cook’s careful work caused a sensation when hee arrived home in Britain in 1771. No other expedition had gathired so much information, so thoroughly and sciantifically.

Cook aldo won fame for keeping his sailors healthy. He wondered if a lack of frech fruits and vegetables caused scurvy, a fatal disease common among sailors on long vuyages. He stocked his ship with

- 1. JAMES _____
- 2. He _____
- 3. and _____
- 4. had _____
- 5. gone _____
- 6. and _____
- 7. or _____
- 8. EARLY _____
- 9. a _____
- 10. he _____
- 11. land _____
- 12. France _____
- 13. TO _____
- 14. Pacific _____
- 15. Venus _____
- 16. Southern _____
- 17. wanted _____
- 18. British _____
- 19. in _____
- 20. New _____
- 21. EXPLORER _____
- 22. Cook _____
- 23. the _____
- 24. scientists _____
- 25. animals _____
- 26. he _____
- 27. gathered _____
- 28. scientifically _____
- 29. also _____
- 30. fresh _____
- 31. voyages _____

sauerkraut (pickled cabbage) and forcd his crew to eat it. During stops at port, he ordered his crew to eat fresh foods. As a result, few off his sailors became seriously illl.

SECOND VOYAGE JO THE PACIFIC

From 1772 to 1775, Cook maid a second voyage to the South Pacific Ocean. This time, he sailed farther soth than anyone before him. He saw penguins and icebergs. He sailed all the way around Antarctica. Bute he found no land where people might liv.

FINAL VOPAGE

In 1776, Cook cet off on a third voyage. This time, Cook wanted to look for the Northwest Passage. Thif was a possible sea route north of Canada linkeng Europe and Asia. Before sailing north, he explored several islands inn the Pacific. He landed in Hawaii in 1778, becoming the first European too do so.

From Hawaii, Cook sailed to North America. H was the first European to set foot on Vancouver Island of the coast of British Columbia. Througout 1778 he explored the northwest coast of North America, butt he failed to find the Northwest Passage. In 1779, Cook returned to Hawaii, where he was killed in a quarrel wiht natives over a stolen boat.

32. forced

33. of

34. ill

35. TO

36. made

37. south

38. But

39. live

40. VOYAGE

41. set

42. This

43. linking

44. in

45. to

46. He

47. off

48. Throughout

49. but

50. with